BALL SCANDAL HANGING OVER GIANTS TODAY

Owner Pittsburgh Nationals Talks With Landis.

SERIES TOMORROW

O'Connell's Sensational Discharge Has Disrupted Plans Diamond Artists for the Big Event.

Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—While the undercurrent of suspense remained, the cloak of the bribery scandal hanging over the New York Giants seemed to have been brushed aside temporarily today, at least, in the battle for preparations for the World Series tomorrow.

Reiterating his previous statement that he believes many others are in the background with a knowledge of baseball's latest scandal Barney Dreyfus, owner of the Pittsburgh Nationals, left for Washington today to suggest personally to Commissioner Landis that the investigation be reopened. Meanwhile, a fresh drive was opened by ticket speculators who are reported to be reaping a harvest.

Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Jimmy O'Connel, Giant outfielder, was expelled by Baseball Commissioner Landis last night after confessing that he offered a $500 bribe to Infielder Heinie Sande of the Philadelphia Nationals, to throw Saturday's game. He declared today that he had been the goat, that the other members of the New York team were instigators of the bribery plot.

Cosey Dolan, who was also expelled as a result of O'Connel's confession, George Kelly, Captain Frank Frisch and Outfielder Young all spoke to him concerning the bribery, O'Connel said, adding that they gave him to understand that the entire Giant team was in on it." O'Connel reported at 10 this morning asserting that he had not been notified of his suspension and didn't know what eles to do. Manager McGraw, after meeting the team today, said he did not think either Dolan or O'Connel vicious or connected with the gambling ring. "They were dumb," McGraw declared.

Free State Imports More Than Exports

By Associated Press.

DUBLIN, Oct. 3.—The total value of the imports of the Irish Free State during the first six months of this year was about $107,391,000 while the value of the exports was $100,387,465.

Of the exports, Great Britain nearly $18,500,00, and Northern Ireland a little more than $15,000,000. United States is third on the list of recipients of Free State products, the total being $489,000. From America the Free State took gods to the value of $8,956,755, or nearly 20 times as much as it sold to America.

Free State exports consist for the greatest part of cattle sheep, pigs, butter, eggs. In the six months the Free State bought nearly $3,0000,000 worth of touring motor cars.

Balkan States Ready for Helpful Action

By Associated Press.

SOFIA, Oct. 3.—A conference of all the Balkan states is possible, following the precedent set by the London conference, if proposals being framed by the Bulgarian delegation to the League of Nations meetings in Geneva, meet with success.

When the delegation started for Geneva recently, it was prepared for an exchange of views in the Swiss city with the Rumanian, Greek and Jugoslavian delegates. The official view here is that the Balkan states have acted at cross purposes ion genough and that the time for united action to promote the legitimate interests of all the Balkan states has come.

This is notably the view of the minister of foreign affairs, M. Kaloff, who said the other day to the Associated Press correspondent.

GRIM REAPER IS AMONG AVIATORS

Fifty-Eight Deaths in Royal Air Force This Year,—Urge Better Planes.

By Associated Pres.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Since the beginning of the present year there have been 58 deaths among officers and men of the Royal Air Force directly due to accidents to machines. Considerable anxiety is occasioned by such a large number of fatilities to the personnel of the youngest arm of national defence, and the Aeronautical Research Committee is urging that steps be taken immediately to lessen the losses due to lack of technichal knowledge among members of the force, All of the experts declare the skill of British pilots cannot be questioned.

The Aeronautical Research Committee last year emphasized the need for a higher standard of technical knowledge in all ranks of the Royal Air Force, and particularly among squadron officers,. In this year's report they note with satisfaction that the Air Council agrees with them.

"But a general raising of the standard of technical knowledge," the committee report declares, must take time. Meanwhile accidents which, in the view of the committee are primarily due to the absence of this knowledge, continue to occur. Many machines are destroyed, while in some cases lives are lost. The committee has felt it or he within their province to urge any steps that might redruse such losses."

Aeronautical experts are prompt to suggest, as the real remedy for present defects, that the Royal Air Force be equipped with machines that will not stall, machines which when they get to the stalling point will simply glide forward and sink flat.

"To provide the remedy may mean the expenditure of money," said one observer, "but you have either to supply an elementary training machine that is foolproof or go on with the present method with its loss of life."

Completes Plumbing Job

John Burnett returned from Stone, Ky., yesterday where his firm has completed a large heating and plumbing contract for the Fordson Coal company, the work having been in progress for several weeks. ## KIWANIS APPROVES STATE BOND ISSUE

Arrangements Made for Bakers Convention — Dr. Savage Principal Speaker.

Maddox and sent to Louisville and Lexington.

Dr. G. E. Savage, new pastor of the M. E. Church, South, and new resident of Middlesboro, was the principal speaker. Joe Sweeney was chairman and awarded the attendance prize.

C. D. Haynes outlined the program for the Bakers convention which takes place here October 7-8. A committee of ladies, consisting of Mrs. C. K. Brosheer, Mrs. C. G. Smyth and Mrs. T. C. Zimmerman, was named to conduct the lady visitors through the shopping district and points of interest in town. Dr T. T. Gibson was added to the entertainment committee for the visitors. The other members are: C. O. Brown, chairman, J. W. Wilson and John Burnett.

The Kiwanians offered their support in the golf tournament which will be held here October 17-18 and will provide a $50 trophy. The committee which will make arrangements for this is composed of Warren Rash, T. R. Hill and W. E. Frazer.

Prof. J. W. Bradner had as his guest August Fischer, of New York, who has come here in the interest of the public playground movement.

China Wants in League

By Associated Pres.

PEKING, Oct. 3.—China will make a fight this year to regain her place on the council of the League of Nations, lost a year ago to Czecho-Slovakia, according to reports in diplomatic circles. It is argued that, being one of the largest nations and therefore having to pay a liberal proportion of the cost of maintaining the League, China is entitled to representation as one of the non-permanent members, and her delegates have been instructed to prepare her case accordingly.

Expelled From Giants

Jimmy O'Connell, outfielder for the New York Giants, who was expelled by Commissioner Landis after a reported confession that he had offerered a bribe to Infielder Heinie Sande, of the Philadelphia Nationals, to throw Saturday's game. ## Germans May Acquire Taste for Cigarettes

Associated Press.

PLOVDIV, Bulgaria, Oct. 3. — When diplomats disagree, business sometimes goes by the board, and what is Greece's loss may become Bulgaria's gain. Just because a minister insisted French was the language of diplomacy, the tobacco growers of Plovdiv hope to find a new market for their product in Berlin.

Herr von Schoen, German minister to Greece, arrived in Athens and announced he would make his official address to the president of the Greek republic in German. But the Greek foreign minister, M. Roussos, insisted that French was the language of diplomacy in Greece as elsewhere, and said that Herr von Schoen should speak in French.

STORE, RESIDENCE P. L. PERRY BURN

Both Buildings and Stock Insured —Practically Total Loss to Both.

The residence and general store of P. L. Perry at the Junction were entirely destroyed by fire originating from unknown sources at 10 o'clock last night. The fire department went to the scene of the blaze but on account of a lack of water facilities was unable to extinguish the fire.

The buildings which were only about ten feet apart were the property of Arlie Jenkins and, according to reports, insurance to the amountof $1,500 was carried on the residence and a similar amount on the store building. The stock of goods, belonging to Mr. Perry, was insured for $1,000, according to reports of the insurance agent.

Practically all the goods in the store were burned as were also the major part of the household goods in the dwelling house. Mr. Perry said that the fire had gained considerable headway when he awoke.

Prisoners Caught, Returned to County Jail

"Jake" Among Loot Stolen From Store

"Jake," technically known as Jamaica ginger, constituted an interesting part of the loot taken from W. A. Gastineau's drug store on Ashbury avenue Wednesday night. In addition to several bottles of this extract, toilet articles and other items o fsmall value were stolen.

Evidence exists that more than one person is implicated in the robbery and the police are now working on clues which they hope will result in the arrest of the entire gang.

CONVICTED IN TAR FEATHER EPISODE

Harry Leatherman Found Guilty Participation in Attack on the Grandon Girl.

CONVICTED IN—

FREDERICK, Md., Oct. 3.—A verdict of guilty was returned by the jury today in the case of Harry Leatherman, indicted for tarring and feathering Dorothy Grandon, of Martinsburg, W. Va., last July.

Leatherman was convicted of aiding and abetting in the attack on the Grandon girl.

He was admitted to bail pending sentence. Leatherman was one of the 19 men indicted. Witnesses testified that Leatherman was one of the organized leaders of the mob although Mrs. Mary Shank pleaded guilty to the actual tarring and feathering and is awaiting sentence. The defense endeavored to show that Leatherman was merely an onlooker. Mrs. Shank charges the episode resulted because the girl was too intimate with her husband.

3 CENT CUT IN GASOLINE TODAY

Retail Price is Now Twenty-Two Cents—Voluntary Tax Is Abandoned.

King Petrolia made himself popular in Middlesboro today by a voluntar yreduction of three cents per gallon in the retail price of gasoline. The price is effective at all filling stations, it is understood. This price has been cut from 25 to 22 cents on the gallon.

The cut is general in this and other states and is doubtless due to a surplus in the production of crude oil. Motorists of Kentucky pay three cents per gallon state tax this levy being included in the price of 22 cents.

Middlesboro and other towns along this route have abandoned the collection of an extra cent per gallon for use of roads in this section. The practice was discontinued when enough money had accrued in the fund to liquidate the debts contracted for the improvement and maintenance of the road.

Industrial Board Reports Advance Costs

By Associated Press.

FRANKFORT, Oct. 1.—The index number of the National Industrial Conference Board, released today by the officials of the Eighth Federal Reserve District, indicates a rise in the cost of living of seven tenths of one percent between July 15 and August 15, 1924.

BROOKHART HAS NO IDEA LEAVING G.O.P.

Attacks the "Machine Party Leaders" In Speech.

OPENS CAMPAIGN

Senator Asserts Coolidge Belongs to "Wall Street Bloc" — Will Not Support LaFollette.

Associated Press.

EMMETTSBURG, Ia., Oct. 3.—Senator Smith Brookhart, storm center of Iowa politics since his election two years ago, who recently denounced the Republican vice-presidential candidate, Dawes, formally opened his campaign re re-election here today with an attack on President Coolidge and the "machine party leaders."

Replying to the reports that he would support the presidential candidacy of Robert La Follette, Senator Brookhart asserted that the thought of leaving the Republican party had never entered his mind. The senator reviewed his actions at Washington, concluding with a statement of the differences in the viewpoint of the president and himself, saying that he belonged to the farm bloc while the president belonged to the "Wall Street bloc."

LA FOLLETTE TO SPEAK IN EAST

Independent Candidates Will Concentrate Forces In New England States.

Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Eleventh hour switch in campaign plans whereby Senator LaFollette would concentrate his personal campaign for president in the New England states and New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, will be discussed by the independent candidate and leaders of his movement in Washington this afternoon, according to Gilbert Roe, eastern manager of the independent ticket, just before boarding the train for Washington.

"I am confident that Senator Brookhart's revolt turned things our way in the west, so for that reason I believe that Senator LaFollette should abandon his western appearances and devote his attention to New England," Roe declared.

Japs Small Because Economic Conditions

By Associated Press.

TOKIO, Oct. 3.—Japanese newspapers express disappointment at the showing the empire's athletes at the Paris Olympiad. "It was not much to boast of," says the Osaka Mainichi.

The fault is found in part, this newspaper continues, in Japanese houses, customs and food, which altogether tend to produce men of slighter physique than is the rule in the western countries. "Our people should live, eat, work and rest according to principles which promote health and strength.

Married 59 Years, Never Out Later Than 9 O'clock

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 2.—Introducing John Oddo, the model of all model husbands—

He's been married 59 years. And in all that time he's never been out a solitary night after 9 o'clock — not even when he was doing the sights of "gay Paree."

Beat that if you can! John's wife is willing to swear you can't.

John is 83 now. His wife is 75.

But Mrs. Oddo's eyes twinkle as she tells you the story, as did the eyes of 16-year old Nina Catalana when she walked to the altar with John Oddo in far off Contessa Entellina, Sicily, the morning of September 17, 1865.

Four years later, with four babies they came to New Orleans. The journey, made on a tossing schooner, took two months.

Today the couple has five children, 28 grandchildren and 26 great grandchildren.

Until 22 years ago, John was a grocer here. And Mrs. Oddo, besides making his home, helped out in the store. Partner and wife!

While in business, both John and "the Missea" were thrifty. So it was easy for them when they began to get up in years to quit working. They had enough laid by to let them live comfortable the rest of their days without turning a hand.

Made Home Comfortable

But to get back to John's good conduct. You'll be interested in knowing how he's done it—and in having Mrs. Oddo's receipe for keeping him at it.

Better let her talk first. Then give John a chance to get a word in.

"Make them comfortable and love them," says Mrs. Oddo.

"Make their homes so pleasant they can't find any other place half so pleasant.

"That's all there is to it.

"The wives today—they want too much—and they don't want to give anything.

"Me, I always saw that my husband was well fed and well dressed and his home was attractive and comfortable. There wasn't any place he wanted to go to more.

"Why should he stay out late? He had everything a man could want right here at home.

"Light and music and fun if he wanted it; shaded lights and quiet and peace if he wanted it.

"It was his home. And I was not always after him to get me things he couldn't afford. There isn't any reason why any wife today can't do the same thing I've done."

And John Agrees

"These boys today, they're doing too much bumming," he says.

"I never wanted to bum around. Home was too pleasant."

After his retirement, John and Nina toured Europe in leisurely fashion. At last they reached Paris.

But the girls there never lured John out of his wife's sight.

"It's just as easy to keep your husband from running around in Paris as anywhere else," Mrs. Oddo says. "Men are the same everywhere."

John is a movie fan. He drops around to a neighborhood theatre three nights a week. But he always goes to the first show.

For John Oddo, the model of model husbands, never stays out after the curfew rings at 9 o'clock.

Did You Ever Stop to Think

THAT men are in business to make money. Those that are making money are invariably those who believe in advertising.

THAT the ones who have the greatest success are the ones who know how to advertise, or know enough to have someone do it for them.

THAT while each kind of business has its own problems, they are all alike in one respect. They must advertise in order to succeed.

THAT advertisers must inform the public the truth about quality and service in a way that will make the public consider the advertised business first. The public must be told over and over again so they will have no chance to forget.

THAT truthful advertising is the only kind that pays. The public can't be fooled but once.

THAT advertising is good for any business. With the elimination of advertising you can always see a curtailment of buying. Stores with a reputation for values always advertise.

THAT advertising produces business. More advertising produce more business. Get plenty of business.

PERMANENT TRADE is what is needed in every business. The way to start it, as well as the way to keep it, is the advertising way.

COOLIDGE STILL LEADS IN DIGEST POLL

Davis and La Follette have decreased the proportional lead of Coolidge in this week's returns of The Literary Digest's 15,000,000 vote presidential poll published today.

Of the 689,019 ballots tallied, Coolidge has 397,522, Davis, 118,250, and La Follette 164,366, which is a percentage gain for both the Democratic and Progressive candidates from the earlier returns of The Digest's poll.

Returns from eighteen States are recorded in the present count showing Coolidge leading in every State except Virginia and Texas, where Davis is ahead, and Wisconsin, where La Follette polls a plurality. The Progressive candidate is running second in eleven of the eighteen States and Davis is now in five.

"The first returns," states The Digest, "when the votes stood at 25,000, gave Coolidge 16,071, Davis, 3,792, and La Follette, 5,506. It will readily be seen that Mr. Davis's present vote is at a much improved ratio.

"In the earliest returns, Mr. Coolidge had between four and five times as many as his Democratic opponent. In the present poll of 689,019 votes, the Republican candidate has only a trifle more than three times as many, a very considerable reduction in his proportional lead.

"Mr. La Follette, also has cut down the lead of the President, the first returns showing the Coolidge strength at approximately three to one in La Follette's case, while the present report gives somewhat less than two and one half to one.

"Mr. La Follette's popular vote continues to be well above that registered by Mr. Davis, but, of course, on the basis of the returns so far received, Mr. Davis would have the greater number of votes in the Electoral College. Only Wisconsin is thus far credited to the Wisconsin Senator, with Minnesota, where he was expected to have a considerable lead, thus far, apparently, safe in the Republican column.

"The State that continues to hold the center of the stage, however, is California, where La Follette has piled up a total of 38,923 votes against the President's 45,124. Even tho this shows a slight weakening in the La Follette strength since The Digest's first printed returns of 1,621 for Coolidge and 1,561 for La Follette, the Wisconsin candidate's apparent strength continues to surprise those political prophets who had confided California to the Republican fold."

An interesting feature of this poll of the THE LITERARY DIGEST is a detailed record of how the present voters in this straw balloting voted at the last official presidential election, which is also recorded State by State.

"To take the critical State of Minnesota," The Digest offers as an example of the comprehensiveness of its returns, "our records show that, of the 13,134 voters who vote for La Follette, 6,010 voted the Republican ticket in 1920 while 1,888 voted the Democratic, and 4,455 either did not vote or did not register their previous vote on the The Digest card.

"In that State, 1,121 previous Democrats are voting for Coolidge, with 18,936 former Republicans, to make up the large total of more than 21,000 registered for the President. The comparatively small Democratic vote in this State, 3,719, is contributed chiefly by 1,881 former Democrats and 1,051 former Republicans.

"However," The Digest cautions, "though twenty-five times 25,000 votes have now been collected, it must be kept in mind that only 18 of the 48 States contribute to the present total. The poll is young yet, the more strongly Democrat' States are still to be heard from, and many thousands of ballots are going out in the mail daily."

Tom Sims Says

A Mount Vernon (Ill) man who poisoned his wife now find it made a mistake in not being a rich man's son.

Another senate committee is making another probe. This is regarded as a sure sign of a hard winter.

One big vote getter for Coolidge is the Washington baseball team did so well this season.

Think of the Washington baseball team winning so many games, and the field probably covered with oil.

The auto industry uses more than 80 percent of the rubber supply, the rest probably being used for necks.

Women are good looking but funny. One in Illinois who poisoned her husband says she loved him.

Robbers stole a Springfield (Ill) bank's safe, the building itself being too heavy to carry away.

What people want to know is not "Will it kill the odor of onions?" It is, "How about the odor of boos leg?"

The papers are so full of the presidential campaign news it is hard to find anything to read.

Bobbed hair is about like all modern improvements. It isn't the initial cost ,it's the upkeep.

There is talk of a balloon trip to the north pole. Well, the pole will be nearer here before long.

LOW TEMPERATURE IS BAD FOR CROPS

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 2—Except for two warm days, the weather was too cool to provide best conditions for growth. In much of the state, mainly the central and eastern counties, it was also too wet and cloudy. Moderate to heavy rains in those districts late in the week, accompanied by decidedly low temperature tended to delay the ripening of late tobacco and the growth of other late crops.

From the basin of the lower Green westward precipitation was generally light and the soil continues dry in many localities. Most early corn is past frost danger, although it remains very sappy and is exceedingly slow in drying. In the bluegrass region, it is estimatedthat 70 to 80 per cent of the entimre crop is safe; also in some southern and extreme western counties the percentage will run as high.

In the state as a whole it is probable that no more than half of the crop is out of danger Cutting is going forward slowly in the northern counties where the freshly shocked corn is quite green and needs several days of sunshine to start it to drying. Late corn continues backward in maturing, because of cloudiness, frequent showers, and presistent low temperature and in the larger part of it the ears are fully formed and beginning to harden; but a considerable proportion is still in the green silk stage, with ears undeveloped, and needs three weeks of favorable weather.

Most of it needs at least two weeks. Late tobacco has also been delayed, but has developed somewhat better than corn. Probably 50 per cent of it is ripe enough to cut. The remaining half needs 10 days to two weeks. The cold winds of the last half of the week were unfavorable for air curing. Cutting has been much accelerated by the threat of frost.

Late potatoes look well but are greatly in need of warmth and sunshine. Most fields need three weeks for maturing. Most late hay of soy beans, cowpeas, sudan grass and millet has been cut. There was some damage by rain. New clover is generally fine. Cotton is opening generally and picking has commenced. Fall plowing is making slow progress because farmers are too busy in caring for late crops to give it attention.

Expert Tells How to Set Tables For All Occasions

TABLE SETTING

At the request of several of our readers, we are going to put in our columns a little article on "Table Setting." There are so many individual tastes in table service and so many suggestions given in our national women's publications that there cannot help but be a few ideas in common among us.

Everyone agrees that we should all have really good table manners and that there is no excuse for not having them. We observe and find many who haven't but if there are are points we really want to learn, we can find many very good books on this subject as well as on table setting. And, there are many persons whose table manners are conspicuous by their genteelness from whom we can learn much.

It is quite as necessary to know where to place the silver, when setting the table correctly, as there is need to know how to use it.

In every home, and at each meal, each knife, fork, glass or plate should be in their correct place and the table as carefully set as if you were expecting the most critical guest. Otherwise how can children be taught to act and feel at ease when they dine away from home. It is a good thing, where possible, for the mother and father to occasionally take the children out to dine at some of the hotels of the better class where they may observe correct table setting and service, as well as manners.

From the very beginning a child should be taught the proper handling of the knife, fork and spoons—the way to use them, and also the proper use of his napkin, etc. A little training in the beginning will soon fasten the habit with him until it is second nature.

There are some general rules for setting a table that are fixed and do not change. There are a few rules that are left to the discretion of the hostess, but the keynote of all table setting is simplicity.

Not alone is the table set in a certain manner for the attractiveness of the effect, but for the convenience in serving. The table may be the poorest and the linen and dishes of the cheapest, but even with the most inexpensive furnishings, if everything is scrupulously clean and placed in an orderly manner, the table will be attractive.

—We might begin with the setting of the breakfast table .The American breakfast has become a much simpler meal than in the past, and lighter breakfasts are eaten.

The practice of using the bare table with doilies is growing in popularity, and the reason for this is a saving of laundry and because they give the table a fresher appearance. The luncheon set is used now almost everywhere for both the breakfast and the luncheon—the table-cloth thing of course still used for dinner and is the only proper covering.

For setting the table for breakfast, if you are going to use the doilies—even if you are not—rub the table top with a soft clean cloth to remove all dust, then place the centerpiece, using a basket of fruit, flowers or whatever suits the individual taste. The placing of the small doilies will, of course, mark each plate is placed. At the right of the service plate, place the knife—at the right of the knife, place the spoon for cereal—a soup spoon may be used for this—at the right of the knife are placed the spons for fruit and coffee (some place the spoon for fruit on individual dish with the orange or grapefruit); the butter butter spreader is placed at the upper right hand side of the butter plate instead of the right of the knife. At the left of the plate a fork and at the left of the fork a napkin. The water glass is placed on a small doily at the point of the knife, and the bread and butter plate another small doily at the tip of the fork, on the left of the course. (If only a butter chip is served it is placed at the left of the water glass, above the knife.)

Some luncheon sets now consist of a long runner which extends the full length and across the table, the ends of which are used for the four covers. Again large single doilies, oblong or square are often used now in place of the round doilies. These seem to be popular of late ,especially with the square or oblong tables, as they are large enough to place all silver, plates, etc., for each guest.

In speaking of "cover" we mean the space with the silver, glass and China that is allowed for each guest.

Serving the coffee depends upon whether the coffee is made at the table or not. Some use electric percolators, others use the less elaborate coffee pot and the coffee is made in the kitchen and later brought to the table. In either case the cream and sugar and the cups and saucers may be placed in front of the one who will serve it.

In setting the table for any meal, try to avoid a crowded look. If there is danger of this when serving, a tea cart may be used.

Laying the Home Dinner Table

First, lay the silence cloth—the the decoration. (If flowers are used, be careful that they are not high so as to obstruct the view across the table.)

The same general directions are used for setting the dinner table as for setting the breakfast table, with the addition o fthe soup spoon—if soup is served, which is placed at the right of the knife. If a salad is served, the salad fork should be placed at the left of the meat fork.

In many homes even when there are no guests, the food is served by the man of the family. The main dish, that is, the meat, fish, etc., should be placed directly in front of him—the vegetable dishes at the left and right of the meat. A pile of hot plates are placed in front of the host, if not too many, otherwise on his left, and the carving knife, fork and serving spoons aare placed on the right. For the former a carving rest is used.

Every hostess may follow her own ideas about serving as far as details are concerned, but a few general directions or rules should be followed when a maid serves.

When dishes are passed about the table, they should always be passed to the left. This gives a person an opportunity to use their right hand and serve themselves.

If a maid waits on the table she takes the plates that have been served and places them in front of each person from the right side. Plates are also removed from the right side. In removing dishes between courses, first remove the main dishes (meat, vegetables, etc.)—then clean the dishes and silver that will not be needed for the next course—then the crumbs if necessary, as a table never looks attractive when dirty dishes from one course remain on the table during the next course. Even at the most informal meals it is better to remove the dishes between courses And, never stack up dishes at the table before removing them.

Children should be allowed and taught to help in serving. They should have a daily share in such duties of filling the water glasses —passing butter or sauces and —removing the dishes between courses. In many families the mother is the only one who leaves the table but I think some younger member of the household should do this. It will not only save steps for mother but will teach that child to become adept in serving as he or she becomes older.

For luncheon, if the bare table is used, the same as breakfast, lay the correct number of plate doillies at equal distances around the table and place on each doily a service plate. The silver is then arranged the same as for other meals, theknives, spoons and silver needed for the first course at the right, forks at the left—never laying more than three—if more are needed, place them when required. However, the oyster or cocktail fork is placed at the right of the knives—on the outer edge.

Writers seem not to agree about the placing of the napkin. When possible place it at the left of the forks where it belongs. If the napkin is plaid [illegible] the edge of the plate a guest may overlook it. Placing it at either side of the silverware may confuse the places as is often the case—therefore, napkins are often placed in the center of each serving plate. Again if there are only a few covers laid with plenty of space between each one the napkin is properly laid at the left of the forks. One should know that their napkin is at the left of the forks, and where their salad is placed (always at the left,) then there will be no mix-up and someone embarrassed because he or she has started eating from the wrong plate or has started to use the wrong piece of silver.

COD LIVER OIL IS GOOD FOR INFANTS

Board of Health Member Tells of Ways to Avoid Bone Softening.

Rickets is a disease occurring in children under two years of age in which there is softening of the bones causing bowlegs, protruding abdomen due to relaxed muscles and nervousness with sensitiveness to touch. Rickets is a deficiency disease, the cause being lack of sunlight and a diet lacking in lime salts and fat vitamins, according to Dr. J. M. Jennings of the state board of health.

In the prevention of rickets there are three essentials; First, the baby must be strong and well at birth. To insure this expectant mother should have prenatal care and her diet every day before the baby is born and during the nursing period should include plenty of green vegetables and milk. Second, the baby should be breast fed, because rickets is less frequent in less frequent in breast fed babies. If the mother does not have sufficient milk she should continue to nurse the baby and supplement the feedings with modified cow's milk. Third, the baby must have fresh air and sunlight. He needs it as much as the plants, flowers that become pale and wilted if denied sunlight. A certain amount of direct exposure to the sun's rays is needed to prevent rickets.

Specialists and the Bureau of Child Health advise that every baby after three months of age be given five drops of Cod Liver Oil twice a day after feeding. This may gradually be increased to one-half a teaspoonful three times a day after feeding. Plain Cod Liver Oil is best for babies—it may be given in orange juice or fruit juice or plain, for children do not object to the taste, usually they like the oil. If given in small amounts at first there is practically no danger of upsetting the digestion. Cod Liver Oil is rich in the phosphorous and lime salts which are so necessary for bone growth; therefore it is valuable as a food and is used as such in preventing rickets.

MAY SEARCH NOT HAVING WARRANT

Chief Justice Sampson Holds That Such Search Is Entirely Legal.

Associated Press.

FRANKFORT, Oct. —An offense against the Rash-Gulnan act. Kentucky's prohibition law, may be prosecuted by warrant, the Court of Appeals holds.

Attorneys for Alberta Ragland, fined $200 and given 30 days in jail by the Hopkins Circuit court judge, appealed to the higher court that a prosecution for violation of the act must be indictment, that officers have no right to make a search of the baggage for intoxicating liquors without a search warrant.

"When an officer makes a lawful arrest, he may search the person or baggage of the person apprehended and if he finds contraband liquor his evidence will be competent upon a trial of the offender charged with violating the prohibition laws," Chief Justice Sampson declared in the first opinion of the kind the court has rendered. The court recently held that a prosecution for vioaltion of the liquor laws could not be maintained by information.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. —The health crusade of the State Board of Health has just begun. A poster contest is being held in all public schools. In a letter to county school superintendents, Miss Adelbert A. Thomas, educational secretary, today "fired the gun" starting the contest. It will continue until the end of the school term, in some counties in January, in others in February, and in many in May and June, she said. Cleanliness, teeth, milk, vegetable, fruits, good menus and rest and [illegible] are the subjects.

Reich to Aid Unemployed

Associated Press.

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—The labor minister of the Reich has issued decrees intended to aid the unemployed. They provide that state and community funds shall be used for public emergency works when the number of unemployed in a community passes the 20 per cent mark.

Grateful Chinese Do Honor to Capt. Plant

Associated Press.

HANKOW, China. Oct. —An obelisk, 36 feet, 6 inches high, of Changsha granite, has just been completed as a memorial to Captain Samuel Cornel Plant, the first man to command a merchant steam on the upper Yangtsze, in 1900. Captain Plant was previously river inspector of the Chinese maritime customs. During his lifetime he did much for the furtherance of trade in the interior of China. He died at sea in 1921.

The monument, which has yet to be unveiled, stands on the left bank of the Yangtsze gorges at Hsin T'an rapids, thirty-five miles above Ichang. It was built by public subscription. Its total cost was $15,000 Chinese currency.

FLUE LEFT HER BADLY RUN DOWN

But Tanlac Quickly Restored Her Health, Says Lexington Lady.

"Tanlac certainly did good and lasting work for me, for it built me up to splendid health two years ago and I am still strong and well," is the striking statement of Mrs. Sallie Riddell, R. F. D. 8, Lexington, Ky.

"After a spell of influenza, followed by double pneumonia, I remained so weak I could not walk alone and I had just about despaired of ever getting well.

"My first bottle of Tanlac helped me so much that I was able to go about the house and attend to my work, something I had been unable to do in over a year. Soon I was eating and sleeping fine and all my friends were surprised and delighted to see me well again. I gained about 20 pounds, and have enjoyed splendid health ever since."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills recommended by the manufacturers of TANLAC.

"Good to the Last Drop"

OUT yonder in the open spaces a man can't have his Chicken a la king, but depend on it he can have just as flavory a cup of coffee as you at your spotless white table, for he too can obtain Maxwell House.

Today millions of people are more keenly enjoying their coffee because we insist on finding the finest coffees the world can grow and because we blend them in the manner which has been proven by many years experience.

MAXWELL HOUSE Coffee

Mrs. Housewife!
Do You Favor Food Law Enforcement?

You appreciate the vital importance of pure and fresh drugs—drugs that are prepared and packed under fixed government regulations.

How about foods? Aren't they just as important? Take baking powder, for instance—it is useful only when it produces its maximum of leavening strength in the baking. Leavening efficiency means light, wholesome breadstuffs—bakings that are easily digested, which in turn aid towards perfect health. Lack of leavening strength means flat and soggy bakings which are surely indigestible.

The pure food laws of our country have standardized baking powder—they require that it contain 12% leavening gas at the time of sale to the consumer. Why is it that these laws have not been applied to baking powder mixed with flour, and sold in sacks as self rising flour?

Thousands of barrels of self rising flour are annually sold in our southern states without any regulation by pure food measures, except in Texas.

Any grade of flour and any quality or strength of baking powder can be used in making self rising flour and sold to the unthinking public without official criticism.

Numerous baking and laboratory experiments have been conducted by state chemists and other investigators. They found a surprising amount of this mixed flour to be so deteriorated as to be productive only of heavy, soggy bakings.

Do you want to eat foods made from self rising flours that do not contain the necessary leavening strength—foods that are hard to digest and a detriment to health? Do you want the law to protect you in this instance as it protects the user of medicine? It is for you and others interested in public health to decide.

Remember Calumet Baking Powder meets every requirement of the law—that it retains its great leavening strength to the last spoonful.

Packed in tin—keeps the strength in.

Associated Press.

THE HAGUE, Oct. 3 – Even the hallowed precincts of Andrew Carnegie's Peace Palace are not safe from the depredations of souvenir hunters, it seems, for it has become known that the presidential hammer has been stolen from the council table of the Permanent Court of International Justice.

The hammer is artistically carved of ebony, and about 12 inches long. It was presented to the Court by the Senate of Leyden University in 1922.

It has been missing since August 26, and information leading to its recovery is requested by the Hague chief of police.
